BENJAMIN WHITNEY DIES AS RESULT OF A FALL

Received Injuries at Accident Last Evening at Elks' Club Quarters.

Injuries which Benjamin Whitney, sixty years old, of 1211 Sixth street northwest, received when he fell down the steps at the Elks' Club, near Tenth and E streets northwest, last night, resulted in his death at the Emergency Hospital at 11:45 o'clock this morning. Relatives and representatives of the order of which he was a member were by his bedside when he died.

Mr. Whitney was a prominent resident of the District and had lived here most of the years of his life. He was a conspicuous member of the Elks and several other organizations. He was employed in Ford's Theater at the time President Lincoln was assassinated.

Last night the members of the local Elks went to Alexandria to attend the floral carnival. Mr. Whitney was at the clubhouse when his fellow members returned. About 11:45 o'clock he started down the stairs from the third floor to go home. When he reached a landing he lost his balance because of an attack of locomotor ataxia and fell to the bottom of the stairs.

It was found that his skull was fractured. An ambulance was summoned and Mr. Whitney was sent to the Emergency Hospital. Physicians there stated last night that he was suffering from cerebral hemorrhages.

"Gracious, Jack! Why didn't you get an umbrella?" "Didn't need any, dear; I'm as dry as a chip. I had on my raincoat, waterproofed shoes, and those new LITHOLIN Waterproofed Linen Collars and Cuffs."

MASONIC SUMMER FESTIVAL IS OPENED IN BLAZE OF GLORY FROM MYRIAD LIGHTS

The Art Gallery Is a Popular Place.

President Turns Light on Scene of Beauty at Convention Hall.

The Masonic Fair was opened last night in a blaze of glory. At 8:40 o'clock the President touched a button at the White House that transformed the Convention Hall from a place of semi-darkness to a shining scene of myriad lights and wonderful beauty.

Eight thousand persons had gathered at the hall, to display their interest in the proposed Masonic Temple and to see and applaud the successful fruition of the labors of the board of control of the fair. They were repaid in heapful measure. Around the great hall, on every side, the hosts of all nations were ranged. In each of them pretty girls, quaintly and daintily costumed, offered alluring trifles and enticed the reluctant currency from the pockets of visitors.

Men distinguished in the life of Washington attended the opening ceremonies of the fair last night. The guest of honor was Vice President Charles Warren Fairbanks, fresh from the triumphs of his trip through the South, who made a brief speech. Columbia Commandery, Knights Templar, in full regalia, escorted the Vice President, the Masonic dignitaries of the District and other distinguished persons to the platform.

Thomas C. Noyes, chairman of the board of control, in the very inception of the fair, expressed the sentiment that lies deep in every Masonic heart—that the joy and pleasure and frivolity for which the fair is expected to give occasion, are not its real excuse. The

CONSUL'S MURDERER FIRED FROM AMBUSH

Russian Government Takes Steps to Apprehend Assassin of William H. Stuart.

The State Department this morning received a telegram from Ambassador Meyer, at St. Petersburg, stating that the Russian government had instructed the governor of the province where Batoum is located, to use every effort to apprehend the assassin of United States Vice Consul William H. Stuart, who was shot and killed before yesterday.

The dispatch adds that Mr. Stuart was shot from ambush near Manizidant. He died within an hour. The State Department also received this morning a brief dispatch from United States Consul Heenan, at Odessa, near Batoum referring to Stuart's death, but giving no details.

STORK HAS DESERTED CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 22.—Only twenty births in Chattanooga during the month, while seventy-eight deaths were reported.

Such is the condition of affairs evidenced by the report of the board of health for the month, and if this be a true statement of existing conditions, it is necessarily only a question of time when the city will be depopulated unless immigration from the outside can be relied upon in such quantities as to insure the perpetuation of the city's population or the President's anti-race suicide advice is heeded.

Thomas C. Noyes, chairman of the board of control, in the very inception of the fair, expressed the sentiment that lies deep in every Masonic heart—that the joy and pleasure and frivolity for which the fair is expected to give occasion, are not its real excuse. The purpose is to build the new and handsome Masonic Temple, for which plans have been drawn and some of the needed funds already raised. To this, during the fair, every serious energy is to be directed.

Grand Master Walter A. Brown formally opened the fair to the public.

Greeting From the President. Mr. Noyes read a message from the President, in which he expressed his earnest felicitations upon the successful and auspicious opening of the fair, and brief addresses were made by Vice President Fairbanks, Commissioner Macfarland, and others. The Vice President expressed approval of the plan to build a new Masonic Temple for the District was enthusiastically received. Mr. Fairbanks said such a building was a public need.

From the time the speeches were made the fun was on. The booths were besieged by merry, laughing crowds—crowds, too, that seemed to have plenty of money to spend. There are booths for eating and drinking, for smoking, and at the paddle wheel, where Nobles of the Mystic Shrine presided, it was even said that the thirsty pilgrim could buy in the way to do some drinking. This, of course, depended upon his luck, for unless he selected the right paddle he was doomed to further consumption of Potomac cocktails until the wheel again revolved.

Pictures Worth Seeing. Among the most attractive features of the fair is the art gallery, in which are displayed thirty famous paintings, loaned by several of the well-known collectors of the city. The pictures on the list are as follows: The Wrecked Schooner, An Eye Opener, The Light of Other Days, The Cause of the American Revolution, Departed Spirits, Sardinian Captives, The Beau and the Belle, The Skipper's Home, A View of Brussels, Ruins in China, All on Board, Coke and Blackstone (portraits), Common Sense, A Bad Spell of Weather, More Than a Match, Links of Mystery, The Swimming Match, A Spring Tide, Something to Adore, The Warped Grinder, Repentance, Boats in the Woods, An Absorbing Subject, The Old Man Darling, After the Wedding, Two Lovely Black Eyes, The Charge of the Light Brigade, The Origin of Sin, Not Such a Fool as He Looks, and The Earnest Entreaty.

Enlivened by Fair Dancers. The Marine Band was in attendance last night, and as the evening began to

AGREE TO DISAGREE ON THE RATE BILL

A decision was reached last night to let the railroad rate bill go to conference. The members of Colonel Hepburn's House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce were in session three hours and agreed to recommend disagreement to all the Senate amendments. No instructions of any character will be given to the House conferees.

The only amendment about which real differences seem to exist is one making pipe lines common carriers. The members of the committee deem this one inconsistent with the amendment prohibiting common carriers from producing the commodities which they transport. It is the general belief that the railroad rate bill will remain in conference for at least two weeks before a report can be submitted to the two houses of Congress.

CLUB RAISES $540 FOR MISSION WORK

Men's Branch of Mt. Pleasant Congregational Church Respond to Evangelist's Plea.

The Men's Club of the Mt. Pleasant Congregational Church held its final meeting of the season at the church last evening.

Dr. Sydney Lloyd Wrightson sang several songs at the beginning of the program, which were very well received. The addresses of the evening were upon the general topic, "The Possibilities of a Men's Club." Rev. Cornelius H. Patton, D. D., of Boston, one of the secretaries of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions of the Congregational Church, spoke of the possibilities of such an organization in the great work of evangelizing the non-Christian world.

F. W. Collins reported that a committee of twenty-five had decided to recommend to the club that its members endeavor to raise $500 annually for the partial support of a foreign missionary. The proposition was heartily endorsed by the club, and subscriptions called for. In a few minutes $540 was subscribed, and it was decided to endeavor to make the total $1,000 by subscriptions from absent members.

BENNING FIRE ENGINE DISPLEASES KENILWORTH

Citizens of Northeast Suburb Protest Against Chief Belt's Selection of Location for Engine House.

Vigorous protests against the location of a fire engine house in the vicinity of Benning were made last night at a meeting of the Kenilworth Citizens' Association. The protest will be taken up by a committee of fifteen, appointed last night to represent the association's claims before the District Commissioners, who will be urged to locate the engine house at a more favored point than the one recently selected by Fire Chief Belt.

The association unanimously adopted a resolution recommending to the Commissioners the extension of T street northeast on to Anacostia road and Minnesota avenue, under the tracks of the Pennsylvania and the Metropolitan Branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, to eliminate the grade crossing at that point.

DR. RAUB STRICKEN, DIES IN HIS OFFICE

Veteran Pension Office Examiner Succumbs to Heart Failure While On Duty.

While at his office in the pension building Dr. Jacob Raub, medical examiner for the Pension Office, was stricken with heart failure yesterday and died. The veteran surgeon expired while lying on a couch. One of his attendants had left the room to get him some water, and when he returned found him dead. His body was taken to his home, 72 North Carolina avenue, last night, by his son-in-law, Luther F. Speer.

Mr. Raub was a veteran of the civil war and a member of Kit Carson Post, No. 2, of the G. A. R. He served throughout the war and was awarded a medal of honor for gallantry at the battle of Hatcher's Run, Va., where by his foresight he saved an entire division from annihilation. Mr. Raub entered the army as a private previous to taking his examinations for the degree of doctor. After a year's service he returned to his home, took the examination, and was appointed surgeon in the army. It was while serving in that capacity that he detected the approach of the enemy on the flank of the Union Army at Hatcher's Run and after informing the commanding officer of his discovery seized a musket and took his place at the front.

He came to Washington from Bethlehem, Pa., in 1890, and was appointed medical examiner in the Pension Office. During the service of Commissioner Evans he was medical referee. Funeral services will be held from his late residence tomorrow at 1 o'clock under the auspices of the Masons and the Grand United Order of the Eastern Star. Taps will be played and a salute fired over the grave by members of the G. A. R. He is survived by a wife and two children, Joseph Raub, of Buffalo, and Mrs. Luther F. Speer, of this city.
